Up the Hill a Berrying. BY LUBLIA CLARK.

a sumy summer morning, Sarly as the dew was dry, op the hill I went a berrying; Need I tell you tell you why? Farmer Davis had a daughter, And it happened that I knew, On each sunny morning, Jenny Up the hill went berrying too.

Louely work is picking berries,
So I joined her on the hill;
"Jenny, dear," said I, "your basket's Quite too large for one to fill,"
So we staid—we two—to fill it, Jenny talking—I was still— Leading where the hill was steepest.

Picking berries up the hill. "This is up-hill work," said Jenny,
"So in life," said I, "shall we Climb it each alone, or Jenny, Will you come and climb with me ?"
Redder than the blushing berries,
Jenny's check a moment grew,

How to Fatten Ceickens.

While without delay she answered, "I will come and climb with you."

It is hopeless to attempt to fatten chickens while they are at liberty. They must be in a proper coop; and this like most other poultry appurtenances, need not be expensive. To fatten twelve fowls a coop must be twelve flesh. If fowls are intended for the market, of course they are or may be all fattened at once; but if for home consumption, it is better to put them at such intervals as will suit the time when they are required for the table.-When the time arrives for killing, whether they are meat for market or otherwise, they should be fasted, without food or water, for twelve or fifteen hours. This enables them to be kept some time after being killed, even in hot weather.

RECEIPT FOR CURING HAMS.-To one gallon of water take one and a half pounds of good salt, one half BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, CAPS and pound of good sugar, and half an ounce saltpetre-to be increased to this ratio to any quantity required to cover the hams. As soon as your pork is cold out out the hams and pack them closely in your cask. Sprinkle each layer with fine salt-put on a weight and pour on the brine immediately, and before the juice of the ham has escaped. It will require from four to six weeks for the salt to strike through, according to the size of the hams. It will be neccessary, perhaps, to add a little salt on top of the hams; sometimes, if they are very large, they absorb so much of the salt as to leave the brine so weak it may sour. It would be well to take them up after they have Been in a week or two and examine them if necessary add a little more salt. Great care should be taken not to salt too much, as by doing as you lose the at $1.20 flavor of the ham, and but just enough should be used to keep them. As the Barr absorbs the salt from the brine it should be fed by adding a little salt on the top, and the hams should be well struck through. When the hams are large I take out the flat bone and cut

A yard square of good sheeting is sufficient for a good sized ham. After mature deliberation; feeling assured it is the only true and correct system of doing business, and one that can be made to pay if properly conducted, and the only system where justice is done to the buver as well as the seller, when the purformed pay for the goods of his neighbor who never pays his debts, that this is so there can be no mistake, the merchant who sells on time must be paid for the bad debts he contracts, the Cash and and prompt paying customers are the victims.

We do not say we intend to sell our goods at prices less than they cost us, but this we do say, and intend to maintain it, that we will sell our goods at half the profit we have heretofore charged, and at half profit they can be bought for in the State of Michigan of merchants who sell on time.
